A LETHARGIC MARKET. Stock Movements Narrow and Lacking in Significance. New York, May 8 .- Speculation drifted back into a lethargic condition today and movements of stocks were narrow and meaningless. The sharp fluctuations earlier in the week seemed to have exhausted the resources of traders for the time being, and on neither side of the market was there a disposition to take the initiative. In the face of yesterday's brisk rally The Toronto, Can. Motorcycle club bear traders made no attempt to opthe market still reflected the lack of buying power, the recent upturns apparently having been little more than demonstrations against the short in-Under these conditions ly invading African and Egyptian market approached a state of deadlock None of the leading speculative stocks moved a point above or below yesterday's close. This apathetic condition was illustrated by the market's singular lack of responsiveness to two important developments: the government crop reshowing an improvement over the previous estimates, themselves highly satisfactory, and an indicated winter wheat crop of 513,000,000 bushcis, compared with an indicated yield a year ago of 278,000,000 bushels. Pubcation of this report fell flat as a stock market influence. The monthly figures of the copper producers, the second development, revealed a shrink-age in stocks on hand of nearly 22,000 Although a decline had been predicted, the amount was much in excess of estimates bringing down the stocks of the metal to the smallest figure reported since last September. A slight advance in Amalgamated occurred after the appearance of the figures, but otherwise the showing passed unnoticed in the market. There were a few weak features. Canadian Pacific was depressed more then two points on selling from Mon-treal. Chesapeake and Ohlo, regarding which there has been talk of a possible cut in dividend, touched a new low figure for the year at 62 1-2. Bonds were irregular, but there was an undertone of firmness.
